DESCRIPTION

A staple for the electrical engineer. I can't tell you how many times I've been one clip short!

Note: Sold as a single unit.

Good sturdy product

about 2 years ago by Member #791230 verified purchaser

I bought 2 for a dollar to add onto a previous order. Not a bad price if you are just buying a couple or few to add to an order but a week or so later I did find a larger pack at either Lowes or Wal-mart that was a lot cheaper than 50 cents a piece. That being said I only needed a couple and can't speak for the cheaper ones. They were very sturdy with a strong grip. Very good for making arms that hold circuit boards when working on them or connecting to a pin and placing a multi-meter lead in the end so you don't have to hold a lead on a pin which I believe is a cheap and useful alternative to buying extra clip type multi-meter leads.
